Stepping Into Change

Introduction

Goshen High School the past four years has taken on many changes and has provided many new and different experiences for its students, faculty, and community.

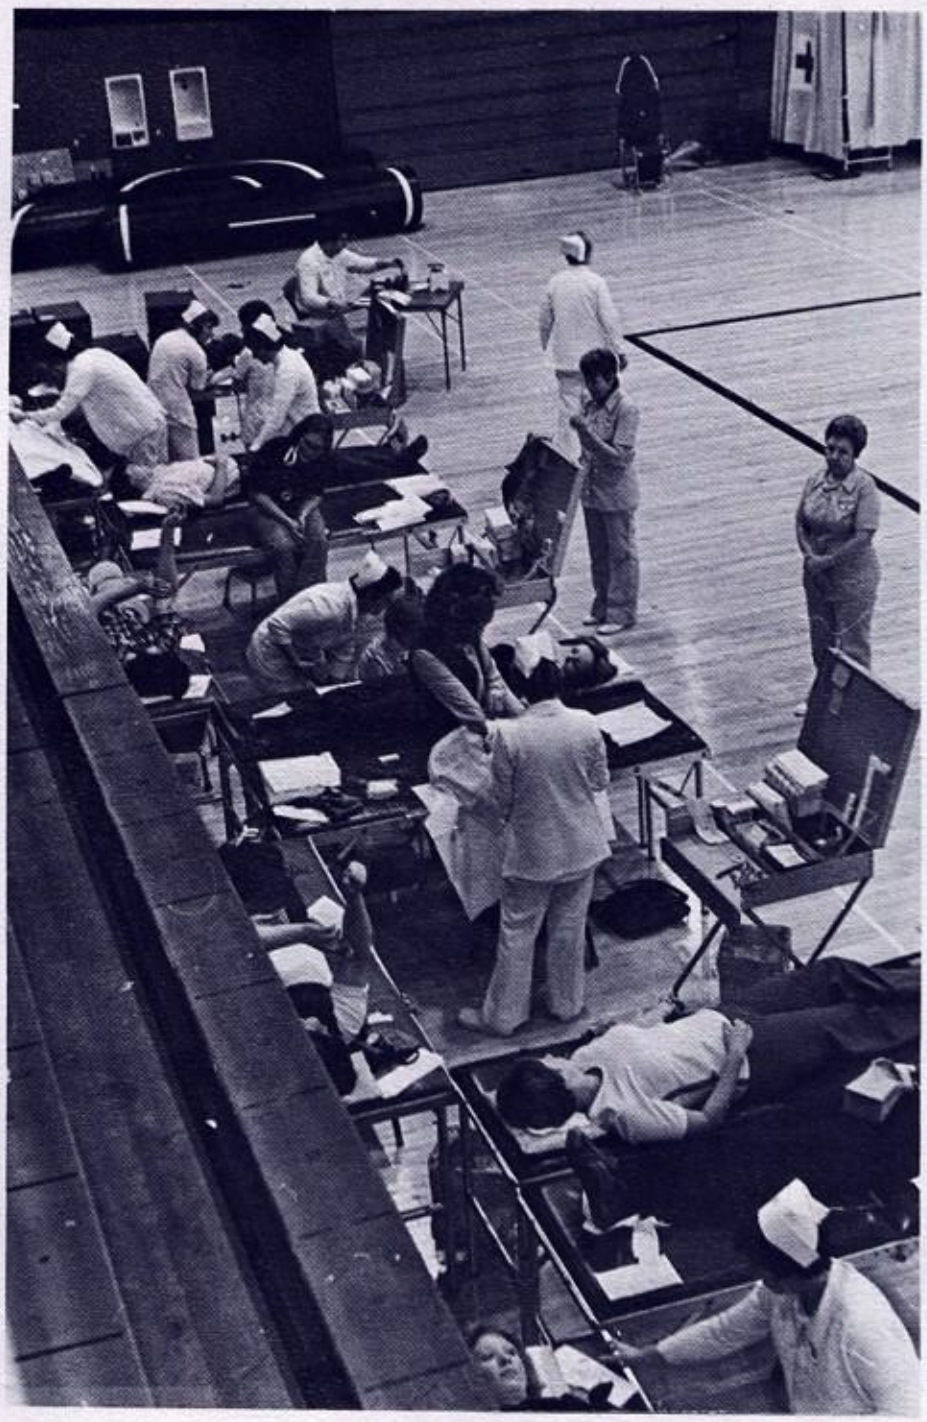
It began in '75 when principal Philip Cartwright said he would strive to take the hassle out of GHS. In fact, some of the hassle was eliminated and students by years end anticipated the next school year.

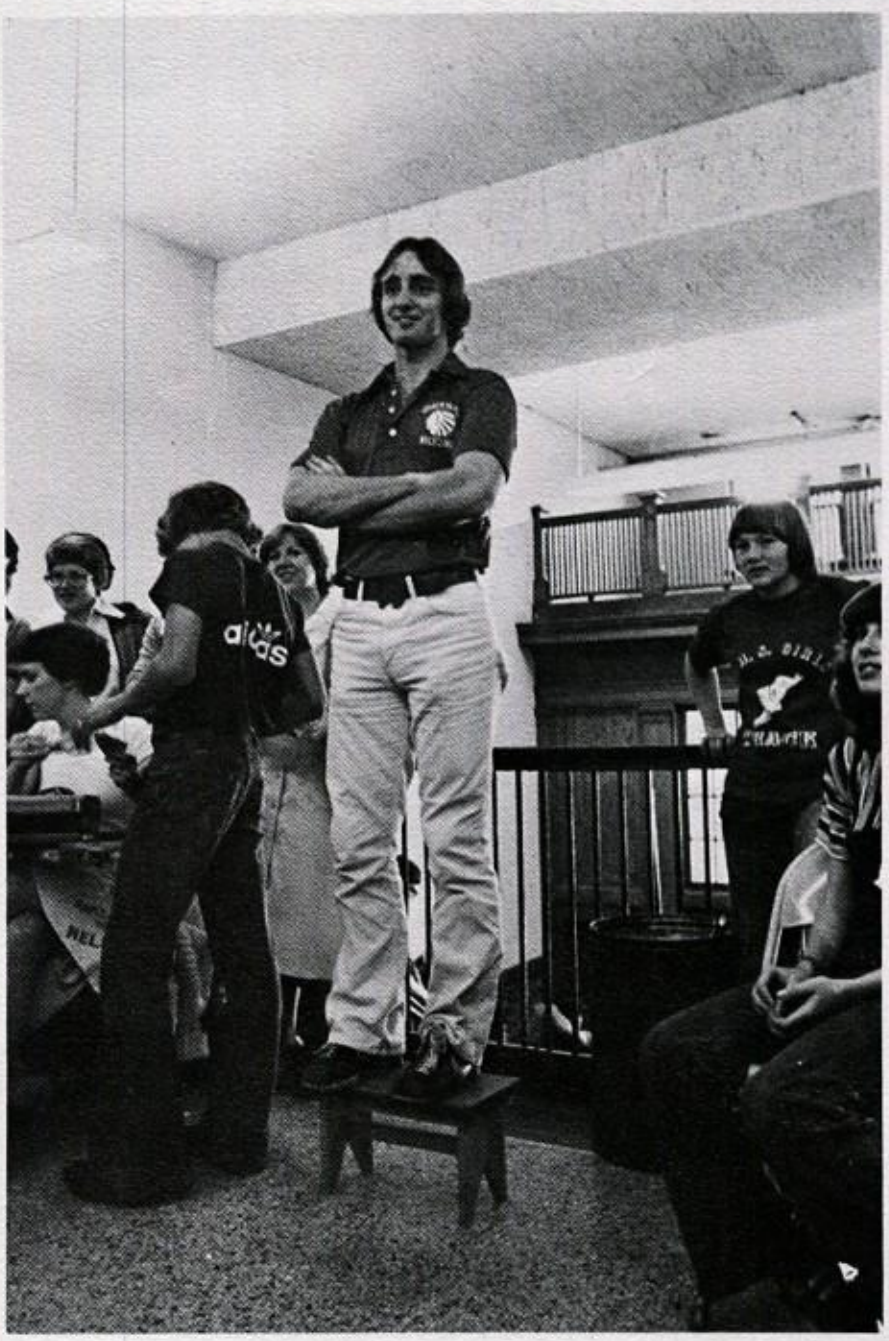
A year later, the Crimson celebrated the country's 200th birthday with a theme built around the once-in-a-life-time event.

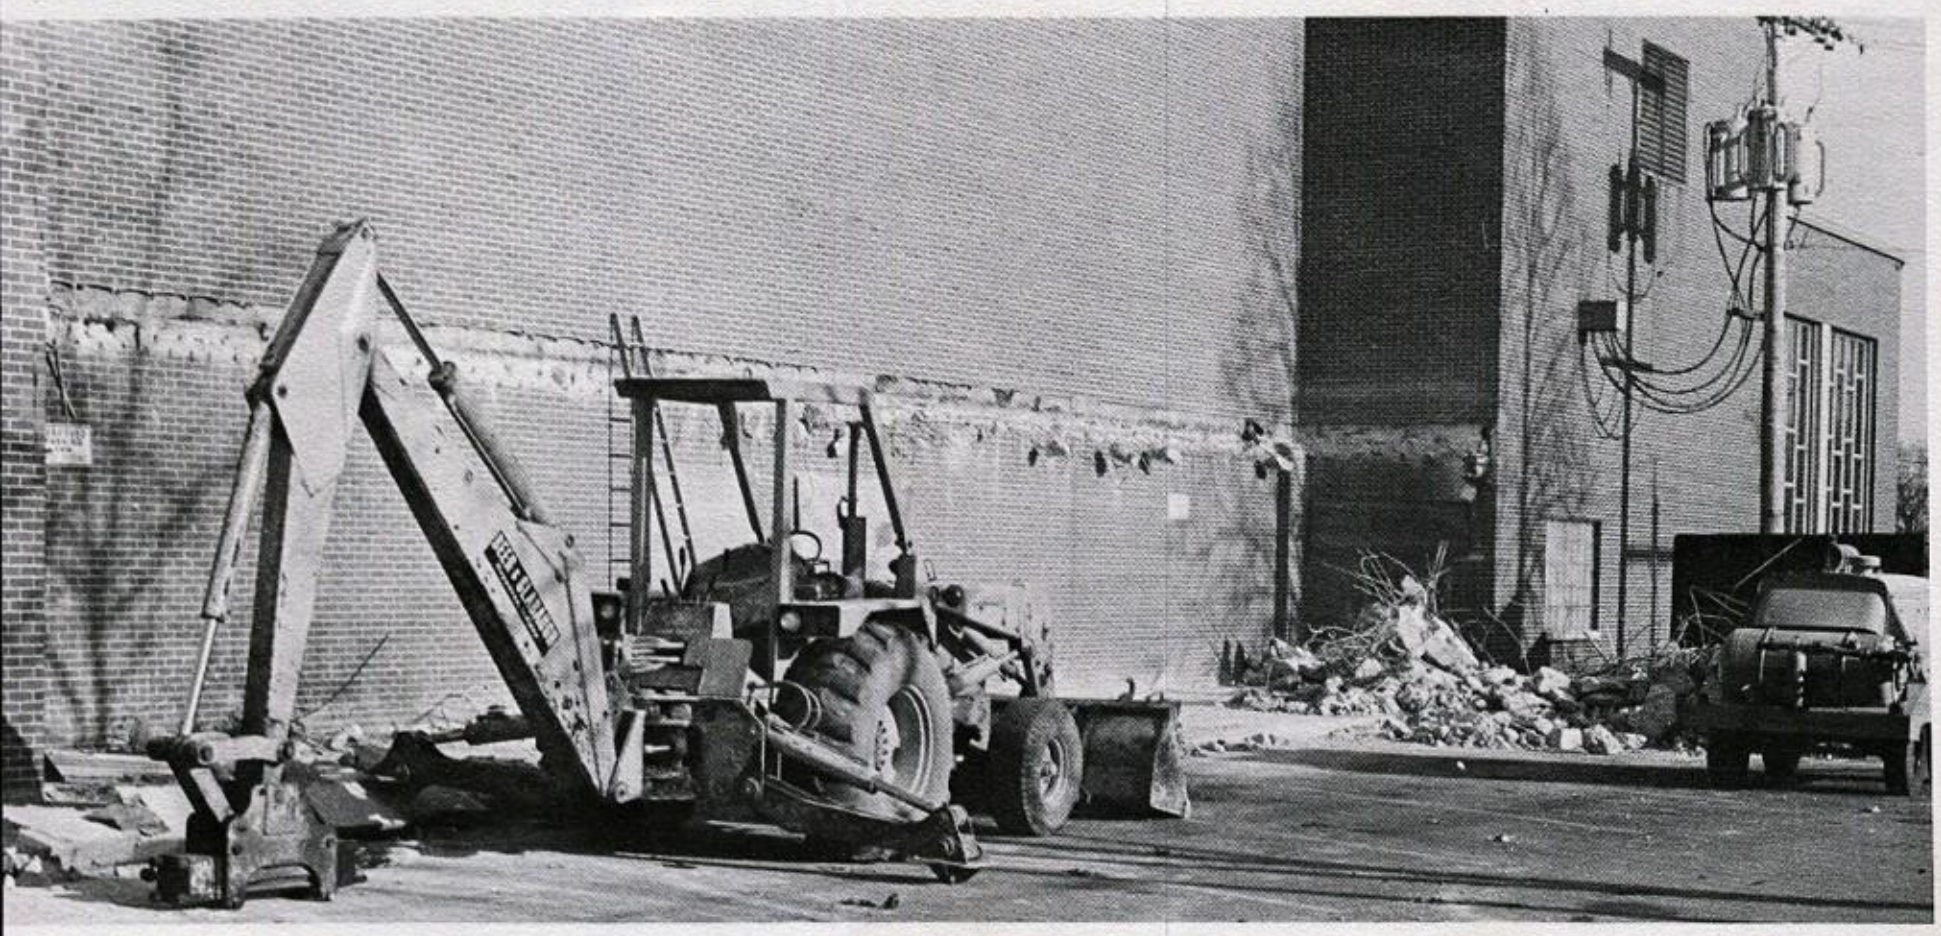
In '77 "We Put Life into GHS" was the Crimson's theme with principal Fiandt's goal to have students to "do your best". The Crimson focused on people and people relationships in their many expanded activities that GHS provided.

This year the Crimson staff selected "Stepping Into Change" because it was the year the 7 million dollar renovation began in the spring. Prior to renovation, other changes took place. The school served as a host to ex-president Gerald Ford and to Medowlark Lemon and his Globetrotters; experienced the worst winter storm in the history of the state and midwest which saw students out of school for over one week; recognized the first GHS individual state champion in modern-day history with Dave Edlund winning the 185-pound championship; witnessed the school's first "Blood Day"; and saw the continuing theme of "to do your best" from the staff.

We hope you enjoy this, the "77-"78 edition of the Crimson.







Tradition Prevails Over Enthusuiasm

Tradition overruled campus enthusiasm as GHS students prepared for Homecoming Week activities.

Sparse numbers of student body and faculty members participated in the designated dress-up days. "Farmers Day" drew little involvement, but "Big Red Day" captured a majority of the school's students and teachers.

Convocations and student pictures formed class schedule interruptions throughout the week. Sophomores and juniors took time out from their books and filed through the auditorium and had their class picture taken.

Fall sports athletes and the GHS Thespians staged theatrical presentations as convocations for Homecoming Week.

Attempting to arouse more interest in the students to get involved in different organizations and clubs at GHS, Thespians performed skits to illustrate available clubs and organizations offered.

Various varsity sports participants comically tried to display the humorous side of their sports. Cheers, songs, and favorite exercises were part of the performance.

Senior Larry Holston was presented with the Silver Elbow Award in cross-country, and girls' swim team "freestylers" unveiled the swimming arsenal of "back balloons" to aid them in their meets.

Election procedures for the homecoming queen had a new twist this year as the number of candidates was extended from three to five, and pre-selection qualifications were greatly altered.

Queen nominees consisted of seniors Angie Beer, Mary Dubinin, Natalie Lambright, Kay Myers, Cindy Weeden, with junior Terri Brandt and sophomore Linda Leichty as attendants to the queens' court.

Students and queen candidates voiced their dissatisfaction toward the idea of dumping the traditional procedure of each nominee being escorted in front of the student body by senior boys, and replacing it with an informal attire also drew an unfavorable response.

The week-long fund-raising contest between the three classes and faculty ended as the sophomores emerged victorious. Sophomore class president Craig Kercher had the honor of throwing the dummy into the bonfire at the celebration preceding the homecoming game against Bremen.

Activities which led up to the Homecoming game concluded as Mary Dubinin was crowned queen during half-time ceremonies. Senior flanker Jerry Riley presented Miss Dubinin with her crown while senior back Jay Lantzer followed with a bouquet of flowers. Senior linebacker Rick Hamsher was selected to give a winning kiss to the newly-crowned queen.

The victory over Bremen was greatly celebrated at the dance following the game. The junior class sponsored event was well attended by GHS students as festivities honored the football team's record of 4-0.

Activities Captured Student Interest

Extra-curricular activities captured the interest of GHS students as various clubs and organizations began to operate following the homecoming activities.

Art club members discussed working at concession stands and planned the now yearly trip to Chicago, while the Sunshine Society began it's initial meeting.

Junior Achievement promoters used the intercom to present their program which encouraged students to get involved in business management.

Rotary elections drew an early dismissal for senior boys so they could participate in the organizational meeting in our school's auditorium.

Goshen High School added another groups to it's list of extra-curricular activities when The Fellowship of Christian Athletes began it's campagning with a meeting in the library. The youth-oriented religious organization was sponsored by head basketball coach Al Severn with Dori Keyser, Sue Neeb, Ken Mirer, and Carl Weaver assisting.

Outstanding participation shined throughout audtions for this year's fall play "You Can't Take It With You", as 54 students competed for one of the 19 parts available.

GHS students had their heads examined, not by a psychiatrist, but by the school's nurse, Nelda Miller. The entire student body was inspected for lice as a health precaution. Students filed by Miss Miller and quickly had their scalps checked thoroughly, without one lock of hair being damaged. No lice was found.

Senior parking privileges were taken advantage of by junior and sophomore drivers and Principal Fiandt sternly warned of the consequences. Parking tickets were issued to underclassmen parking inproper parking in their areas.

First-time offenders were issued mere warnings, with the second offense warranting a $2.00 fine, and the third offense resulted in the revoking of all parking privileges on shool property.

NorthWood got "teed off" as our girls' varsity golf squad def3ated the Panthers 213-324. Senior Dawn Edwards captured medalist honors with a 46.

Redskin girls' varsity volleyball team evened it's record at 3-3 with a victory over Elkhart Memorial and a loss to Rochester. The JV squad also sported a record of 4-2.

Coach Pete Weddels's varsity tennis team placed fourth in the Northern Lakes Conference tennis tourney held at NorthWood, and the varsity football team extended it's winning streak to five games as the 'Skins the Dekalb Barons 31-8.

For the first time in the school's history, director Dave Plank had his marching band practiced on a Sunday afternoon in prepartation for the upcoming NISBOVA contest.

Stepping Into Change

Abraham Lincoln was a young man of twenty-three.

Wagons and waterways enabled early settlers to journey to the developing west.

It was a mere 56 years since the Declaration of Independence signings when a log building in northernmost Indiana was formed into Goshen High School.

The year was 1832, a year which saw exploration and settlement of what is now the Midwest of the United States. Indiana had only been a state itself since 1816.

Since then, alot has happened in Redskin country, particularly the structure of the building, over the last 146 years.

Prior to the American Civil War, a new building was built on the grounds of what is now the corner of Fifth and Jefferson streets. Another had been constructed after the war, but the structure was destroyed by fire during the winter of 1875.

Relocated on East Madison Street, a new building took form. The finished product consisted of ten clasrooms and an office for the school superintendent.

As an example of the expertise of constructing buildings, or possibly the lack of quality in those buildings, the new structure was completed in time for classes to resume the following fall, at a cost of only $20,000.

Central School (GHS's name until 1904) was again situated back to the corner of Fifth and Jefferson for the beginning of the 1904 school year.

Continuous relocating of the school's ground came to an end in 1923 when Goshen High School was designated a 17 acre lot where the present campus is now situated. At the time,GHS had the largest property grounds in the state.

Facilities for football, baseball, and track, plus the addition of an auditorium and gymnasium raised the cost of this expanded project to $40,000.

By 1960, a library, cafeteria, swimming pool, and shop buildingwere provided. Basketball players, as well as other athletes, were privileged to participate in a bigger and more useful gymnasium that was also constructed.

Bringing Goshen High School up to state school safety regulations headed a list of reasons for remodeling the structure.

After several months of deliberating on a set price for the project, rennovation began as students departed for Spring vacation.

Demolition started in the east wing of the third floor as walls separating the old classrooms were knocked out, which will make way for the new, expanded rooms which are forthcoming. All the girl's restrooms were also designated as targets for early remodeling.

Participation Energized Members

Participation energized members of the Crimson band as their involvement increased through the week. Hours of marching proved to be worthwhile when the band earned a second division rating at the NISBOVA contest held at Concord High School.

Community spectators witnessed the band's contest show Monday evening during halftime at the JV football game which GHS lost 26-0 at the hands of the St. Joe Indians.

Complaints aired in the school paper, The Tomahawk, explained of the band members inconveniences during the lunch hour, due to noon marching practice.

Students felt they should be shown more courtesy by the band director by allowing them time to eat a decent meal and attend their sixth hour class on time.

Sophomores and juniors ordered their class rings and received their class pictures. Many students spent the week exchanging pictures among their friends.

The yearbook, The Crimson, went on sale for $8.00 for the first time. Confusion resulted due to the yet-to-be-delivered 76-77 yearbook.

Opinions voiced in first hour home rooms concerned the different improvements that could be made for next year's homecoming, as Speech Club met to organize for its first NFL meet.

GHS girls' varsity volleyball team netted victories over Fairfield and Concord, while the JV golf team ended their season on a winning note.

The boys' tennis squad hung up their rackets for the season. The team failed to place in the boys' tennis sectional.

Competitive Sports Expansion

Expansion of extra-curricular activities to competitive sports has captured the interest of many students.

As fall sports athletes were finishing up their seasons and cleaning out their lockers, winter sports athletes were eagerly awaiting to move in and begin preparation for competition.

Improving on a 1-6 record the previous season, the girls' varsity golf team upped its' record to 6-4 and went on to win the girls' golf sectional. Senior Dawn Edwards paced the squad by placing third overall in competition held in Fort Wayne. Edwards qualified for regional play but failed to advance any further.

The girls' swim team started off with a splash by defeating Mishawaka Marian in it's opening meet of the season. The 'Skins followed with victories over Plymouth, South Bend Riley, and Tippecanoe Valley. Practice began for the boys' swim team in preparation for it's season opener against Mishawaka Marian.

Three enregetic, athletic females set a precedent at GHS by becoming tte first girls to participate on the cross-country team. Seniors Mary Dubinin and Elizabeth Burns, plus sophomore Nancy Troy used cross-country as a conditioner for girls' track in the spring.

Boys' varasity tracksters ended their regular season by tying with Mishawaka Marian and a loss to Lakeland. GHS went on to finish ninth in the Elkhart Sectional with senior Larry Holston advancing to the regional and placing 29th in the mile-run.

After the varsity football team defeated East Noble the Redskins dropped two important contests to Plymouth and South Bend Clay. The JV squad trampled Rochester 26-8 and lost to Plymouth 30-14, making it a clean sweep for the Rockies.

Biology students students made their annual trip to Ox Bow Tark to study, identify, and take samples, plus list plants, animals, and inanimate objects found in a 10 by 10 meter square. Students who made the trip valued the experience.

The wonders of Japanese art were viewed by members of the GHS art club during it's trip to the Chicagc Museum of Art. The group also took time to shop at some of the unique shops in Chicago before returning home.

Though there was a lack of snow on the ground, the GHS ski club met to organize it's first trip to Swiss Valley in Jones, Michigan, when the "white-stuff" flourished.

The Snake Dance and bonfire that annually precedes the homecoming game was rescheduled due to inclement weather. Celebrations which were to take place before the Bremen game were postponed until the Plymouth contest, as the $136.00 spirit dummy was finally tossed into the flames.

The GHS adult booster club brought in the world-famous Harlem Globetrotters to perform their basketball wizardry before the Goshen community audience. The fund-raising event benefited the GHS athletic program.

Eccentricity Ends Routine Living

Eccentric, erratic, aberrent are words which described a very unusual family, the Sycamores, in the play, "You Can't Take It With You."

The plot of the play was the life-style of the Sycamore family. It centered around enjoying life to its fullest by doing what one likes to do rather than to get stuck in the routine of an eight to five o'clock job.

Student roles included a grandpa who found it enjoyable to attend college commencements, a milkman, a maid, who served corn flakes, hot dogs, and pickled pigs feet, a chemist who made firecrackers, and a hillbilly who was on welfare.

Other aberrent roles included Essie who practiced ballet, made candy and married a xylophone player. Penny(the mother) who wrote plays, Paul(the father) who never grew up enough to give up building things with an erector set or blowing up home-made firecrackers.

Alice was a normal intelligent girl who fell in love with her boss' son, Tony. When Tony came to court Alice, it caused quite a stir between the two families. Love conquers all however and the two families iron out their differences. Tony and Alice in the end get married.

Directing the successful play was student director Cathy Phemister and sponsor Miss Penny White. Doug Cripe was stage manager, Connie Covington, props, and Pat Robinson, sound.

Opportunity Enlightens Achievement

Officials representing many of Indiana's colleges and universities flocked to Goshen High School for College Night. Juniors and seniors seeking information and friendly advice on a future in college were invited to the evening session.

Students could find facts about almost any major university or small college in the state as designated tables representing each college were placed around the hallways for convenience .

Seniors took a step towards graduation by ordering graduation announcements. Soon-to-be graduates gathered in the auditorium while the representative explained the several options open for use.

School spirit began "popping" as participants in high school athletics sold popcorn jars to raise funds for the athletic department.

GHS girls' cheerblock held its' first organizational meeting to prepare for the opening basketball game of the season against Northridge, while ski club members turned in permission slips allowing students to glide down the snowy slopes of Swiss Valley.

Industrialists, businessmen, and local merchants cooperated with student souncil and provided much needed support in the organization of Career Day. The group extablished the opportunity for students to seek out information about possible ventures.

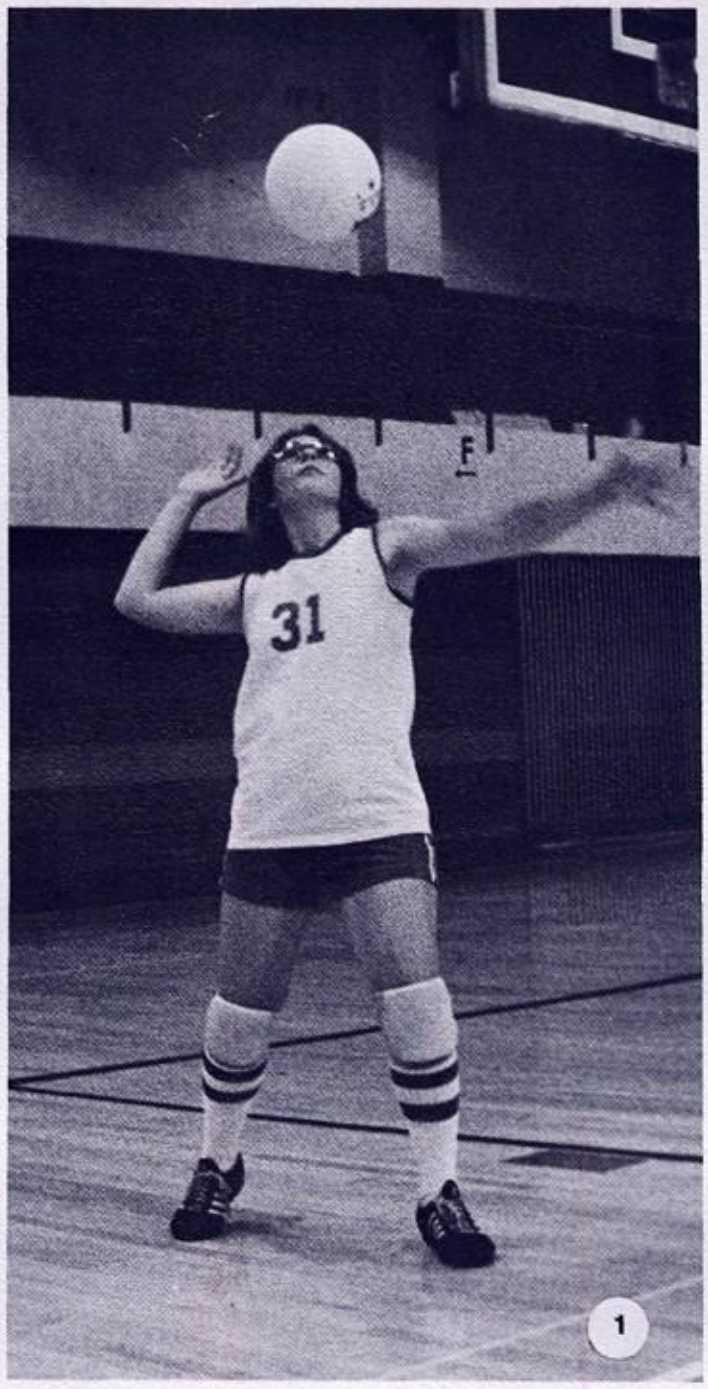
Six members of the speech team placed in their first out-of-town meet of the year held in Chesterton, Indiana. Senior Stephanie Hoffman took a first in Girl's Extempt, senior Durane Mishler placed second in Oratorical Interpretation, junior Darla Ferguson placed fourth in Radio, and senior Angie Beer took a sixth in Oral Interpretation.

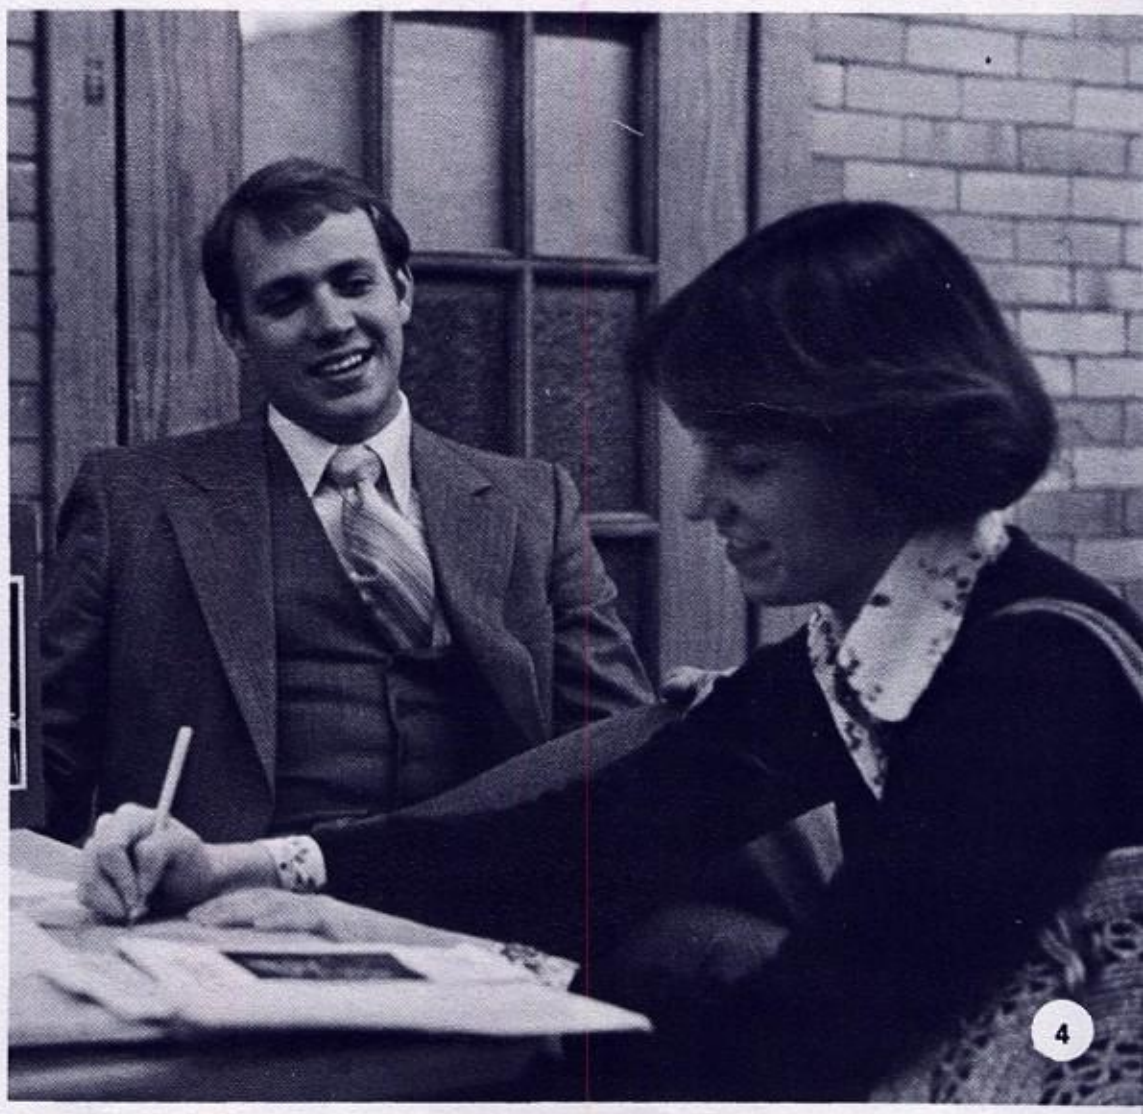
Inductees were initiated into the GHS Thespians as qualifying students were honored at a gathering at the home of Thespian President Greg Weaver.

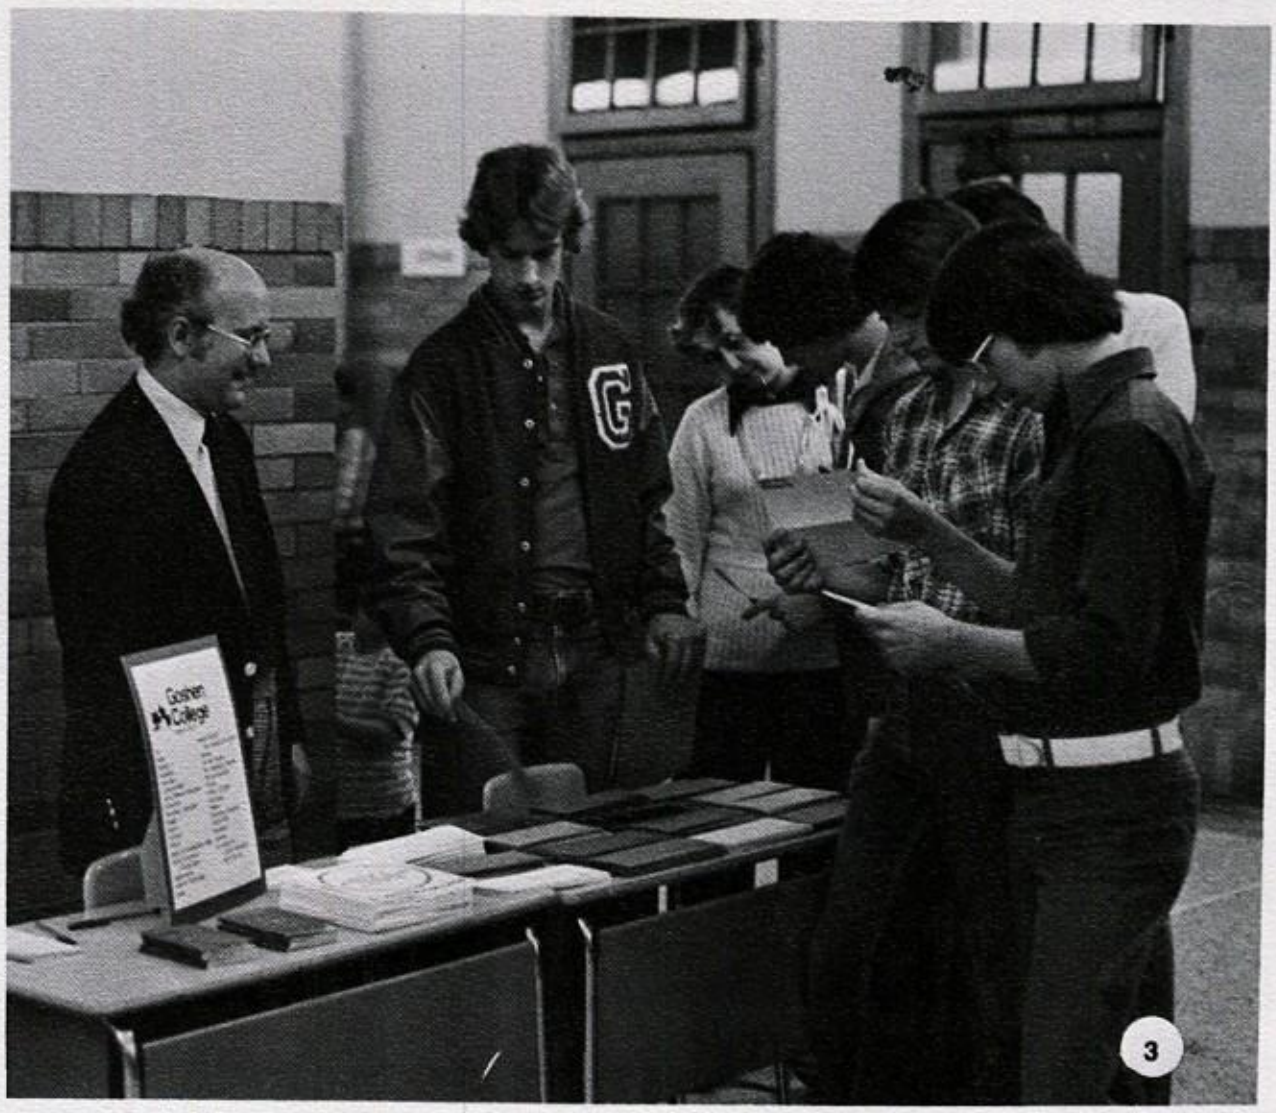
This year's fall play, "You Can't Take It With You," drew two outstanding crowds at the annual theatrical production. Enthusiastic audiences gave standing ovations at both performances.

The girls' swim team chalked up victories over South Bend Washington, Culver Military, Wawasee, and Rochester, making the "mermaids" record 10-2. Junior Beth Moyer broke her old standard for the 500-yard freestyle by stroking to new time of 6:02.6 in the event.

Senior Larry Holston received an Honorable Mention rating on the 1977 Class AA cross-country team, while junior kicking standout Walter Drapeza was named to the United Press International First-Team All-State football squad.







1)Rhonda Metzler accepted the opportunity to participate on the girls' volleyball team. 2)Barb Roth recieved the John Phillips Sousa Award at Spring Concert held in the gym. 3)Many seniors took advantage of College Night to find out as much as they could about each college represented. 5) Kelly Klopenstein and Nikki Hendricks performed for the Pom Pom Corp. 6) Guidance secretary Nancy Teague greeted many GHS students and solved many problems.

Distinction Encompassed GHS

Holiday spirits flourished around GHS as students and faculty members prepared themselves for Christmas-time activities before, during, and after the vacation period.

"Fanfares," "Parade of the Tall Skipps," "The Messiah," and "Gesu Bambine Pearl Fisher Overture," were just a few featured selections performed by The GHS Concert Band at their Christmas Band Cincert, prior to the break. An unheated auditorium kept the audience numbers down, but the crowd appreciated the student production, directed by Dave Plank.

Time was taken during the concert to announce the winner of the band sponsored raffle. Sophomore Tim Brill was the happy recipient of 100 gallons of gasoline. Proceeds went to the development of the music department.

Candlelight processions highlighted the annual Christmas Choir Concert as another auditorium crowd sat in delight while GHS concert members angelically strolled down the aisles during their opening and finishing numbers. The performance concluded with the famed "Hallalujah Chorus."

The student body was treated to a medly of Christmas songs during a convocation staged by the GHS Crimsonaries. Director G. Merrill Swartley guided the outstanding student performers in a collague of popular melodies.

Lockers, lockerrooms, and class rooms, were the main objectives of a thorough search by FBI agents as a strict precautionary measure before the arrival of ex-President of the United States, Gerald R. Ford.

The former Cheif Executive was the honored speaker at the 25 the Annual Goshen Chamber of Commerce meeting held in the high school gymnasium.

Indiana Governor Otis Bowen and Lietenant Governor Robert Orr were among the other notable dignitaries at the evenings proceedings.

Holiday Spirits Flourished

GHS students completed the pre-vacation drudgery of second semester scheduling, while auditions were being held for this year's winter musical production "Fiddler on the Roof." Director Penny White announced that seniors Greg Weaver and Beth Vanderheyden will fill the leading roles.

Marine Bioloby students and their sponsor Mr. Carl Weaver left for the Florida Keys on their two-week excursion to find facts on ocean life. The troupe returned one week after the rest of the student body started following the break.

As the grapplerettes displayed their behind-the-scenes talent of decorating the hallways and locker-rooms in support of the varsity and junior varsity wrestling teams, Coach John Dechant's and Randy Robertson's squads charged out to a series of victories. Varsity wrestlers made their team record 4-1, while the JV team started off with a perfect 5-0 mark.

The girls' swim team ended it's season with a loss to Warsaw making it's record 11-4 for the year. The 'Skins finished fourth in the swim sectional with sophomores Tracy Anglemeyer and Beth Chevalier qualifying for the state meet.

There seemed to be no way of cooling off the boys' swim team as it continued it's hot streak, going undefeated in it's first four dual meets. The "fish" swam to victories over Mishawaka Marian, Concord, Penn, and state-ranked Elkhart Central as sophomore Steve Conder established a new school record in the 500-yard freestyle with a blazing 5:03.6.

The girls' varsity basketball team lost it's season opener to Rocheester 54-34, but rallied for six consecutive victories, while the boys' varsity squad was struggling along winless.

First-year coach Allen Severn experimented with several different starting line-ups, but couldn't come up with one effective enough to put up a victory in the win-loss column until the Goshen Holiday Tournament when the 'Skins notched wins over Mishawaka Marian and Westview. It was the first tourney championship in 11 years for Goshen.

Blizzard of '78 Encompassed Goshen

Snow, snow, snow, that fluffy, wet, white stuff that everyone likes to see fall gently to the ground on Christmas morning, turned into a massive, violent disaster for much of the Midwest, and in particular Northern Indiana and Goshen residents. It was called called "The Blizzard of '78" by those involved.

17 inches of snow fell during a three-day stretch from Wednesday, January 26 to Friday, January 28 which saw all roads closed, and all businesses and factories shut down. Families in homes were stranded indoors with the blowing and drifting snow piling up four and five feet high in many places. 14 inches of that snow fell during a 24-hour span which broke the mark of 11.4 inches set back in 1929.

The snow and high winds subsided Saturday, January 29 and Saturday, January 30 and clean-up operations began. City and county snow removal departments fired up their trucks' engines started clearing major highways and thoroughfares.

Trucks with large, heavy-duty blades were no match for the hard-packed snow and ice and the city and county departments were forced to hire private businesses equipped with payloaders. The powerful machines with large shovels were enough to make the initial cuts, while city and county trucks followed to make those cuts wider.

By Wednesday, February 3, all roads had been sufficiently opened for at least one-way traffic. Many school systems decided to re-open while others waited out the rest of the week and opened up the following Monday.

The Goshen News was unable to print for two days, local stores reported total sell-outs in snow shovels and farm scoops, area dairy farmers dumped thousand of gallons of milk on the ground since milk trucks could not reach the farms. Nearly all local churches were closed, and roofs collapsed at Hendershbot Chevrolet and at Westside Furniture warehouses.

Cross-country skiiers and snowmobiles were the only people who seemed to make good with the conditions as the fun-goers enjoyed the holiday and were seen all over Goshen.

The end result was that a total of 36.6 inches of snow fell in January compared to the yearly average of 6.5 inches in January of 1929.

Sights like these were very familiar to Goshen during the harsh winter. 1)Snow was drifted and piled along the county roads. 2)A picturesque blanket covered the GHS grounds. 3)Road signs became barely visible as road clearing away the packed snow and ice. 4)Huge payloaders were the only sufficient means of paving the way throught the mountains of snow.

Blood Donor DAY

Fresh ideas, new activities, and intriguing experiences are always main concerns for those people setting up the school year schedule, but for unknown reasons, GHS has lacked in all three points the last few years.

Student Council took a healthy step in the right direction this year by collaborating with the American Red Cross in staging the first ever "Blood Dono Day."

By establishing the donation center in the gym, the Red Cross received 78 pints of the life-sustaining fluid that they probably wouldn't have gotten by setting up in another area of town. GHS students and faculty members chipped in for those 78 pints, with most of them being "taken" for the first time.

Prior to any blood withdrawal, donors were required to pass a make-shift physical to be considered eligible to give blood. Donors had their weight, blood type, and blood pressure checked thoroughly during the examination. A complete run through of each individual's past medical record were covered.

Patients passing the pre-test were taken to a donor station, While lying flat on their backs and staring up at the rafters of the gymnasium, donors calmly waited as a nurse pre-treated the arm with which blood would be taken. In a smooth, easy step, the nurse palced the needle in the donor's arm for approximately 10 minutes.

Join the people who've joined the Army.

A lot of young men and women have discovered a good place to invest their time...The Army. What they've found here, they may not have been able to get anywhere else.

Some came to learn a skill. With training in hundreds of different fields to choose from. Some came for the chance to travel in Europe, Korea, Alaska, the Canal Zone,Hawaii, or almost anywhere in the U.S.A.

Some came to meet a unique personal challenge. Like assuming responsibility at an early age. Some came to get a start on their college education on their own time. With the Army paying up to 75% of the tuition for approved courses.

And some came to do something positive for their country. Which is a pretty good reason in itself.

Changes In Environment Experienced

As the mountains of snow slowily melted away after a dreadfully long winter, GHS students began preparation for their much anticipated spring vacation.

Tradition has it that students look for the two significant ingredients that have become part of the April break. Sun and relaxation.

But in recent times, the traveling scholars and athletes found more than the usual activity of lying around a beach and eyeing members of the opposite sex.

GHS clubs and organizations displayed prime examples of the "work - fun" vacation.

Thirteen Spanish Club members flew across the nations' southern border, landed in Mexico City, and started a week-long adventure covering the scenery and historical sites of Mexico.

Spring sports practices shifted into high gear as varsity boys' golf coach Wayne Lambright and candidates for this years' varstiy squad traveled south to escape the cold wind and rains of early spring in preparation for the upcoming schedule.

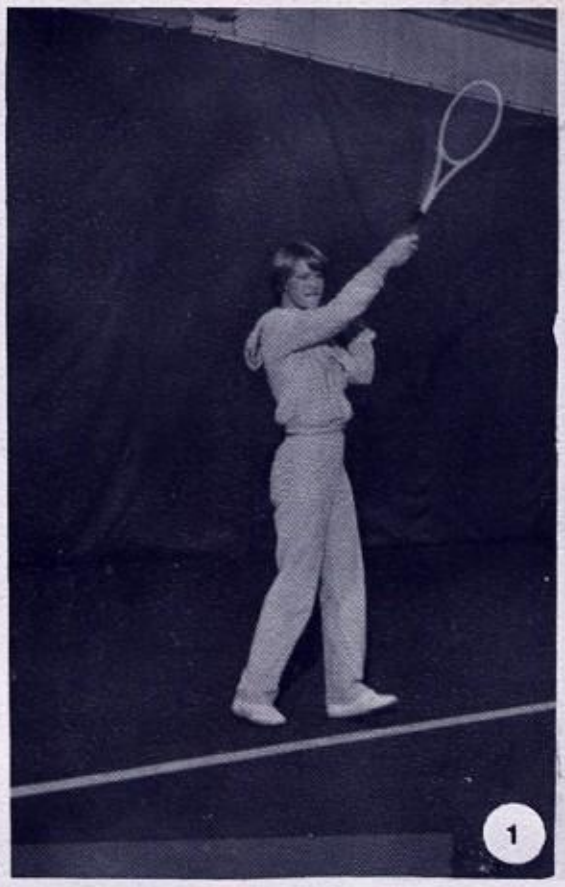
The five-day excursion featured breaks at Kentucky Dam Resort, Christmas Lake in Santa Claus, Indiana, and the Evansville Country Club in Evansville, Indiana. Golfers were given the first real chance to take their swings away from the inclement conditions.

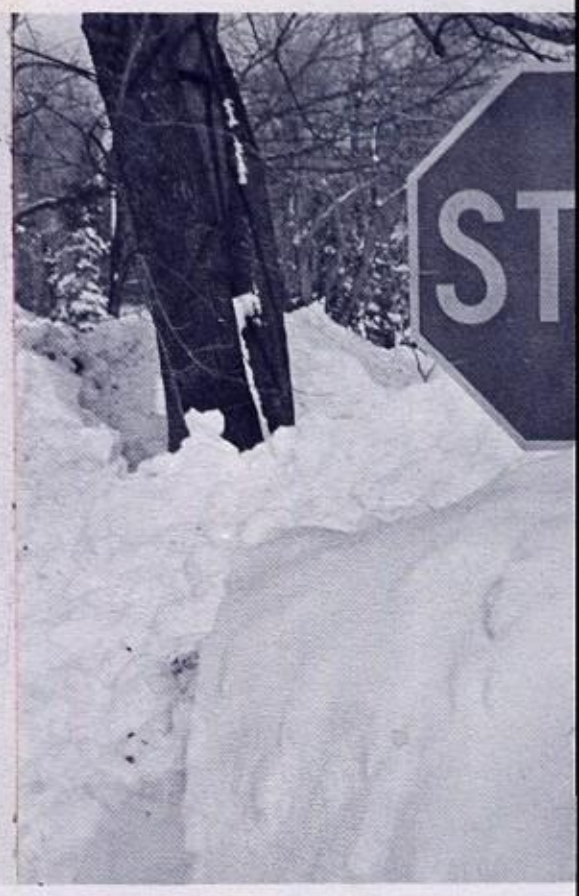
Upon returning from the spring break, the girls' tennis team captured its' first match of the season. Coach Doug Cartwright's squad lobbed, back-handed, and vollied it's way through the steady spring-break workouts en route to a 4-3 victory over Mishawaka.

The long awaited and highly anticipated arrival of the 1976-1977 issue of the yearbook, the Crimson, came to an end as a student envoy made the round trip to Tennesee to pick-up the completed books.

Departing for Josten's Yearbook Company plant in Clarksville at mid-morning of April 14, and returning during the late-night of April 15, the books were finally ready for distribution Sunday, April 16.

Sponsor Jerry Snyder, accompanied by several yearbook students, were on hand to pass out the books as present GHS students, and many GHS graduates were on hand to make their pickups.





1) Sophomore Tracy Anglemeyer displays her form on the tennis court as she tra during a practice session prior to the opening of the spring schedule. 2) Afte dreadfully long winter, students were glad to see signs of the snow stopping and eventual melting of white covering. 3) Goshen students relax in a cool swimming p while the weather continued to bake everyone else. 4) Mexico's Palace of the Arts w a main attraction for the Spanish Club members. 5) Visitors viewed the cliff scen and its channels and waterways. 6) John Guipe hits his approach shot to the gre while Brad Kime waits his turn. 7) The mountains amd cliffs provided excell perches for photographers to capture Mexican sights.

Students Achieved Goals

Dismal skies, damp, rainy atmosphere, and cool, gusting winds were a thing of the past as the first ever GHS commencement held outdoors was a "brilliant" success.

The 102nd annual graduation ceremonies was conducted under near-perfect conditions as skies were filled with bright sun and sparse white clouds, though frequent bursts of winds did alter the position of a few caps and gowns.

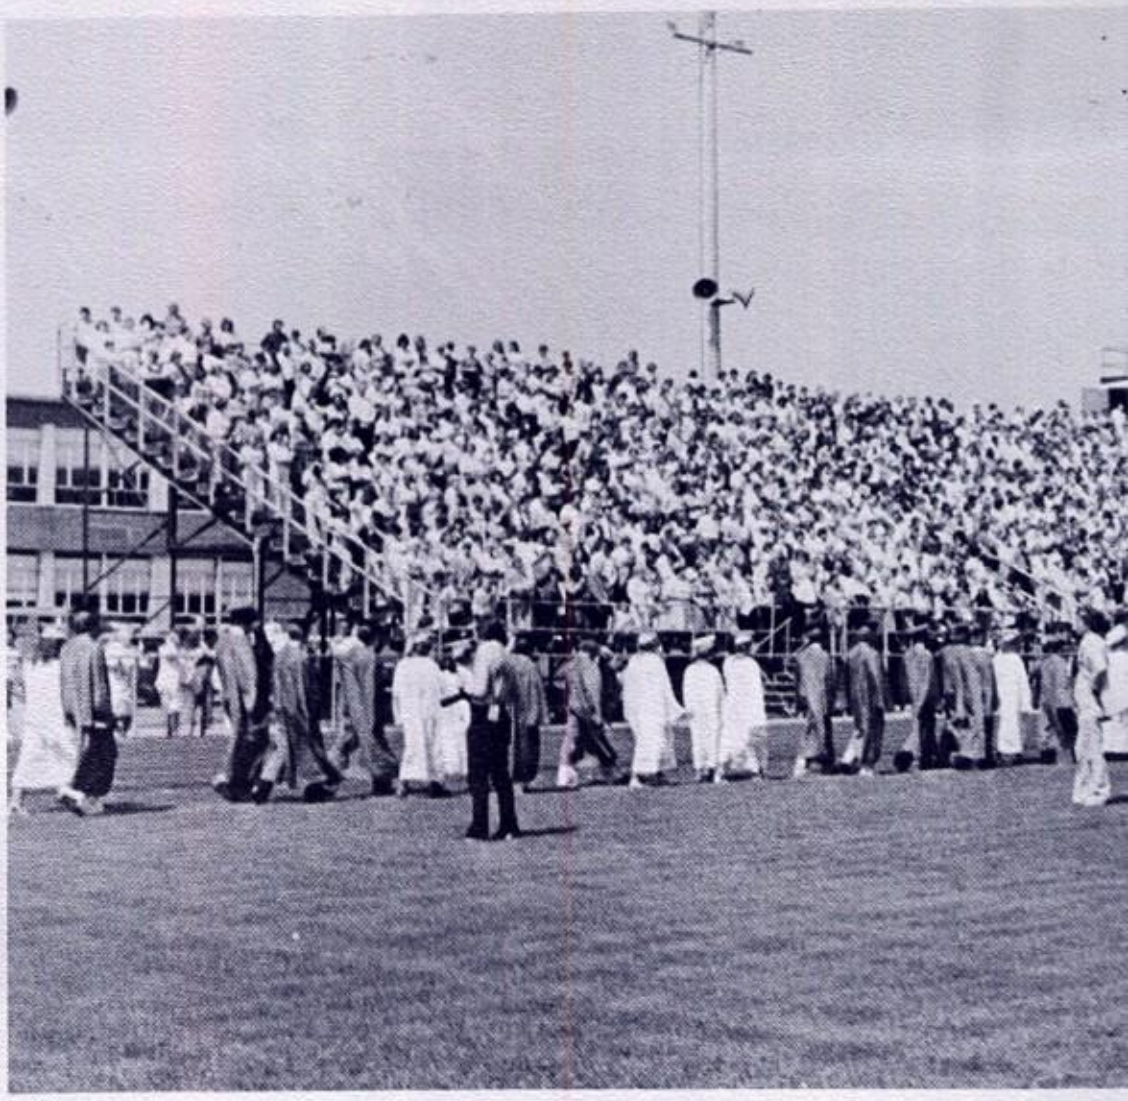
Foreman Field bleachers were jammed to capacity with over 3500 proud parents, relatives, and spectators as 242 graduating seniors paraded onto the setting awaiting for "for moment of truth."

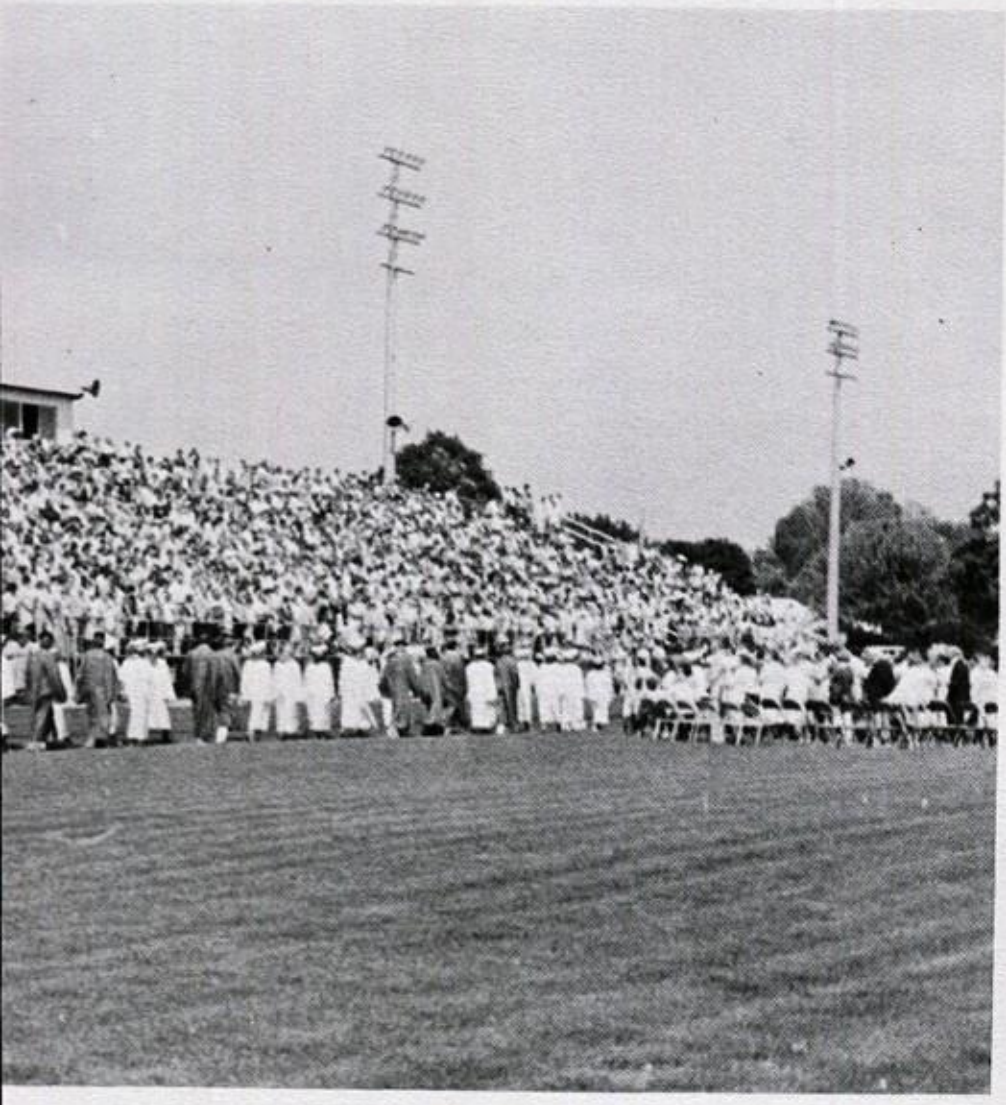
Competitive senses of dignity and emotion permeated the air as ceremonies proceeded onto the introduction by class president Sally Millar of address speaker Martha Foreman and the recognition of trivaledictorians Deb Corson, Doug Cripe, and Mike Sherer, along with salutatorian Stephanie Hoffman.

The audience and students anxiously awaited as Principal Max Fiandt presented the Class of 1978 while Vice-President Dee Byerly and Assistant Principal Wayne Randolph delivered the graduate register. School board President Philip Neff and vice-president Carol Summy performed the honorable task of awarding the diplomas to seniors.

Neff then declared the Class of '78 officially graduated and introduced senior Beth Vanderheyden who sang "Corner of the Sky," designated the Class Song.

The seniors then marched back off the field to the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance," as the crowd applauded in a joyous salute to the four year accomplishments put forth by the 242 seniors.





1) Over 3500 watched from the Foreman Field bleachers as the Class of '78 proceeded by the stands. 2) The Crimson Band performed dthe traditional "Pomp and Circumstance." 3) Seniors made their way up to the stage to receive their diplomas. 4) School Board Vice-President Carol Summy hands Michelle Bose her diploma. 5) On stage, representatives from the GHS administration and the Goshen school board stand at attention as the seniors filed into their designated seats.
